

PRESS RELEASE

FOR MORE INFORMATION CONTACT:

Phyllis McDonough Robinson

Communications and Public Affairs Manager
435-901-0266 mobile; 435-615-5189 office

Lower Park Avenue Design Studio

Park City is inviting professionals to assist in creating a feasible development program for properties owned by Park City.

May 1, 2015 – Park City, UT

Park City Municipal Corporation is launching the Lower Park Avenue Design Studio to develop final concept plans for city-owned property in the Lower Park Avenue Redevelopment Area. This is an innovative approach to bring great minds together to inform a feasible development approach for several for properties owned by the city. The team will include professionals on a local and national level with diverse backgrounds to kick-off a long term redevelopment approach with the city-owned land as the catalyst.

The Lower Park Avenue Design Studio is open to individuals who demonstrate professional expertise in urban design, architecture, land-use planning, infrastructure engineering, real estate development and finance, affordable housing, transportation and economic development, environmental design, communications, presentations, and graphic design. All levels of experience are encouraged to apply in order to attract innovative thinking and new approaches.

Interested participants are required to submit a Letter of Interest by May 15, 2015 and the final list of attendees will be announced on May 20, 2015. The Lower Park Avenue Design Studio will take place July 13-16, 2015. The concepts developed during the design studio will be presented on July 16, and the chosen concepts will move into design and be ready for construction in 2016.

To request a copy of the Request for Proposal, please contact Kim Clark by email at kim.clark@parkcity.org.

###