Subject: city planning?

It is my humble opinion that all building permits should be restricted based on our current water crisis...we cannot keep adding water users when our resources are so limited. Local residents are already paying exorbitant water prices in order to "slow the flow". I say, "slow the growth"!

Secondly, this would add a heavy traffic load and unless mass transit somehow built into the heart of Park City, adding more traffic load will choke the town and further increase air pollution.
