Subject: Recent announcement

To whom it may concern:

I was excited this morning when I saw the headline announcing a potential end to the Treasure Hill debacle.

Unfortunately, the more I've read (what little there is) only heightens my concerns.

Many of the communities concerns are still front and center , though our agreement will be with an out of town partner who appears to be somewhat stubborn, and knows nothing and seems to care less about our community.

Traffic, pollution, building methodology, scope and size aren't addressed in the least. Why would/should we pay $6mm for an option to get the details and vote in 12 months.

It would appear the other side is getting a pretty good deal. The project will now get fast tracked and approved quickly. All of concerns that were met disingenuously before are now the same concerns, but with an unnamed person hiding behind the aptly named LLC.

Without significant information I will not be voting for this. Also, reimbursing the Partnership for their expenses seems absurd.

It seems to me they have massively changed the scope of work since 1985. The partnership has eagerly interpreted the documents literally when it suits them, and loosely when it doesn't .
I'm against this .
